

"it's all a day" - taavi rekkaro

A moment grabs the attention, points and asks to capture the passing, to photograph it. Moments that might feel fleeting or empty, but just trust the process. The unconscious conspires with the subconscious world. We see, but we need help to truly see, to try to understand.

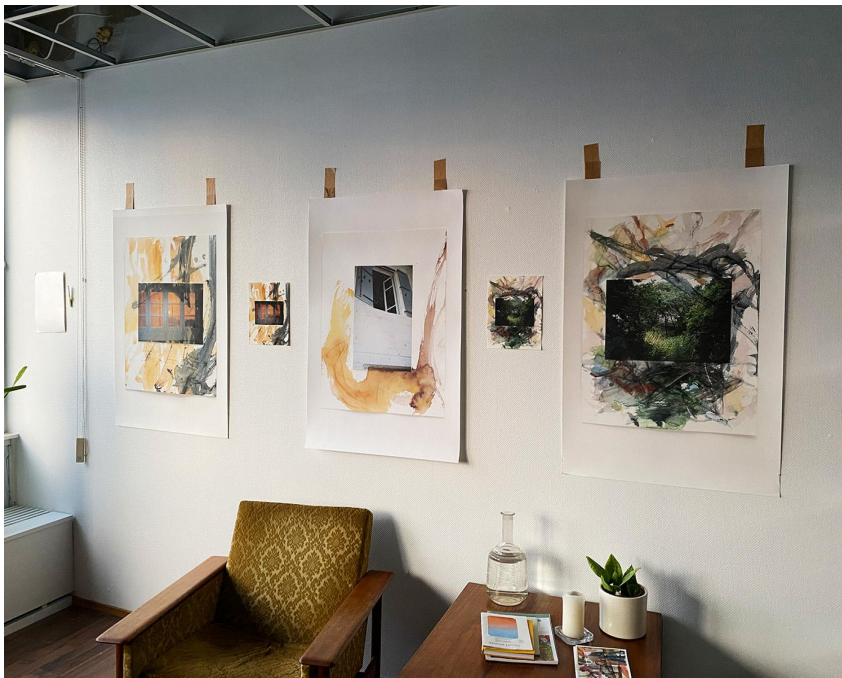

Combining photography with single-session action painting allows to stretch out the moment, to return and combine with new experiences. Creating other worlds, another possibility of life, a chance for new energy to flow from the fleeting memory of what once was.

"it's all a day" consists of 66 photographs combined with 99 paintings. 21x25cm

Shown in Supermarket Fair 2025 and in Uncertain States Scandinavia issue 23

Video ↑

Samples of hanging ↓

Sample photos from “it’s all a day”

